Selling Tree Seed:
Coetir Mynydd
Case Study, 2021

Selling Tree Seed...

Truly wild crab apple trees are very rare, and we organised a license from Natural Resources Wales (NRW) to collect from a local nature reserve thought to have the purest wild crab apple trees in Wales.

“We don't generate much income from membership to cover our on-going costs of insurance etc., so as a trial, this year we organised some volunteer seed collection days to raise funds.

Many planting schemes in Wales use Hawthorn imported from Europe, so it is great to provide some more native stock and do our bit for tree planting.

We collected Crab apples and Hawthorn berries which we sold to Maelor Forest Nurseries Ltd, in Wrexham. Eight volunteers over three very enjoyable days, collected and cleaned enough seed for several thousand crab apple trees and more than 25,000 Hawthorn.

And the icing on the cake... we raised enough money to pay for our insurance!”
